
Accident Claim: how can you protect your rights

Annually, traffic flow accidents cost thousands of lives, 40,000 serious damages, three million NHS bed days, illness, and psychological problems. At Field Fisher, we have accident claims of the UK's leading Road Traffic Accident Injury teams in the UK. We are here to fight for you and to ensure that you have what you need to live your life with dignity. Road Traffic Accident claim cases often involve extremely severe injuries.

ACCIDENT CLAIMS TYPES

As an organization who have been helping people achieve a successful outcome in claiming compensation for over 20 years you can be sure that we have dealt with a wide range of injury and accident claims types, some of which are listed below. Of course, the types of injuries which clients make claims for are widespread and this list is not comprehensive and should be treated as a guide only to the different forms that personal injury claims can take:

STARTING YOUR ACCIDENT CLAIM

Call us for a confidential chat to discuss details of your potential claim for compensation with one of our personal injury solicitors or complete our online form. One of our expert injury claim specialists from Michael Jefferies Injury Lawyers will aim to contact you within 2 working hours to take more information and advice accordingly.

Accident claim

Sometimes it can be reassuring to know other people have successfully claimed for your type of accident claim. Below are some examples of the types of accident we have experience working with. Don't worry if your accident claim type is missing from our list – it's likely we can still help you.

Work accident claim

Accidents at work can be very stressful and can cause painful injuries. Regardless of your injury, you should be able to trust your employer to make sure you're safe in your working environment.

First Party Accident Claims vs. Third Party Accident Claims

Need help with the assignment?

Our professionals are ready to assist with any writing!

GET HELP

There are two types of insurance claims: first party claims and third party claims. While a first party claim is one you file with your own insurance company, a third-party claim is one you file with the insurance provider of another person or business. Most insurance holders have coverage for third parties who are injured as a result of their actions. The type of Accident claim you file will depend on who was at fault in the accident, the type of accident that occurred, and the extent of your insurance coverage. For example, if you caused an accident while driving in your car, you should probably file a first party claim with your auto insurance provider. On the other hand, if you were hit by a car while crossing the street or were involved in an accident while a passenger in a car, you should file a third party claim with the driver's auto insurance provider. Alternatively, if you were injured while shopping in a store or eating at a restaurant, you can file a third party claim with the business' insurance company.

Car accidents can happen because of road conditions or other environmental factors that are out of your control. If your car accident was caused by potholes or cracks in the road surface, then your claim can be made against the Highways Agency or your local council. This is because they are responsible for making sure the roads you use are kept in good condition. Someone is responsible for every stretch of road and pavement, so if it's not safe for use, then you may be able to claim.

Who can make a car accident claim? Don't worry if you weren't in a car when your car accident happened. We know that road traffic accidents can also involve pedestrians, cyclists and motorcyclists. You could also make a claim if you were injured as a passenger in a car accident, or as a passenger in a bus or taxi.

Accident claims advice is here to assist you in the event of you suffering some form of personal injury and thinking of making an accident compensation claim. You may be entitled to make an accident claim for many different accidents such as road traffic accidents, work accidents, slip, trip and falls, sports injuries and whiplash injuries. If you're seeking to claim for compensation and not sure of how to proceed, then Accident Claims Advice is here to help. We provide free advice, a free initial consultation by phone, have our own in-house personal injury solicitors (we are not a claims management company) with years of experience with No Win No Fee claims, and a team of advisors that can answer your questions and who also assist our solicitors.

Need help with the assignment?

Our professionals are ready to assist with any writing!

GET HELP