
Professional Experience of Walt Disney

Walter Elias Disney also called as Walt Disney, was an American entrepreneur, animator, voice actor and film producer. Disney developed his interest in drawing at very early age. He started as a farm boy drawing cartoon pictures of his neighbour's horses for entertainment. He took art classes at his early age and tried to get a job as a newspaper cartoonist, but failed to find one so ended up working in an art studio where he created ads for newspapers and magazines. Eventually he started working on commercials and become interested in animation. Later on eventually, he opened his own animation company.

Walt Disney and his brother Roy Disney started as company named Disney Brothers Cartoon Studio on October 16, 1923. The company also operated under the names The Walt Disney Studio and then Walt Disney Productions. Taking on its current name The Walt Disney Company in 1986, company expanded its existing operations and also started focusing on theatre, radio, music, publishing and online media. The company is best known for the products of its film studio, Walt Disney Studios, which is today one of the largest and best-known studios in American cinema

Disney holds the record for most Academy Awards earned by an individual, having won 22 Oscars from 59 nominations. He was also awarded with the Golden Glob Special Achievements Award and an Emmy award. Several films of his work are included in National Film Registry by the Library of Congress.

I find many inspirational things from Disney's work and life. He started as farm boy having interest in drawing and eventually with his hard work and passion ended up with a big fame company. Many times he got rejection but he never gave up and taken a risk of opening his own company.

I believe that Walt Disney had all of ten traits because without tenacity, vision, risk tolerance, confidence, communication skills and leadership, to build such a big company is not possible. Disney's work speaks about his creativity, curiosity and passion. The most inspiring quote of Disney for me is "It's kind of fun to do the impossible." This message of Disney, always motivates me and encourage me to pursue my dreams.
